Although I'm not a resident of Campbell I attend there every second day. I start and finish my walk around the from there. After my walk I grab a coffee and breakfast. The development is going to impact heavily on traffic and parking. The tradies will park there there early and every day. I noticed during the construction of nearby building next to iskia all the tradies would just move and rotate their vehicles every two or four hours according to the sign posted limit. So the parking signs means nothing. Provision needs to be meet on site for their own parking as it is already difficult to find every time. You can't park around the lake because the office workers use them too, the closer you get to Civic, Russell and Barton the worse it is. Parking around the residential streets of Campbell requires a permit. You can't park near Anzac parade either. Tradies normally attend with one vehicle each because of their tools so there aren't that many spare spots now when locally residences and businesses are taken into consideration. I happy to show you what o mean if you ask. I'm only one person but the problem is getting worse. Thank you.
