

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL

The Australian War Memorial is the national memorial to all men and women who have served in the military forces during conflict. It is also one of the most significant museums of its type in the world, telling the story of all Australians during wartime – on the home front and in all forms of service.

The Memorial is located at the northern end of an uninterrupted vista through to Parliament House. This lies on the central land axis in Griffin's design, which runs from Mt Ainslie, through Capital Hill to Bimberi Peak, the highest mountain in the ACT.

[TOP] Competition design by Emil Sodersteen. The Memorial's design is a compromise between this and John Crust's entry due to a tight construction budget of just £250,000.

[ABOVE LEFT] During construction of the Hall of Memory, around 1940. [AWM-PO1300.001]

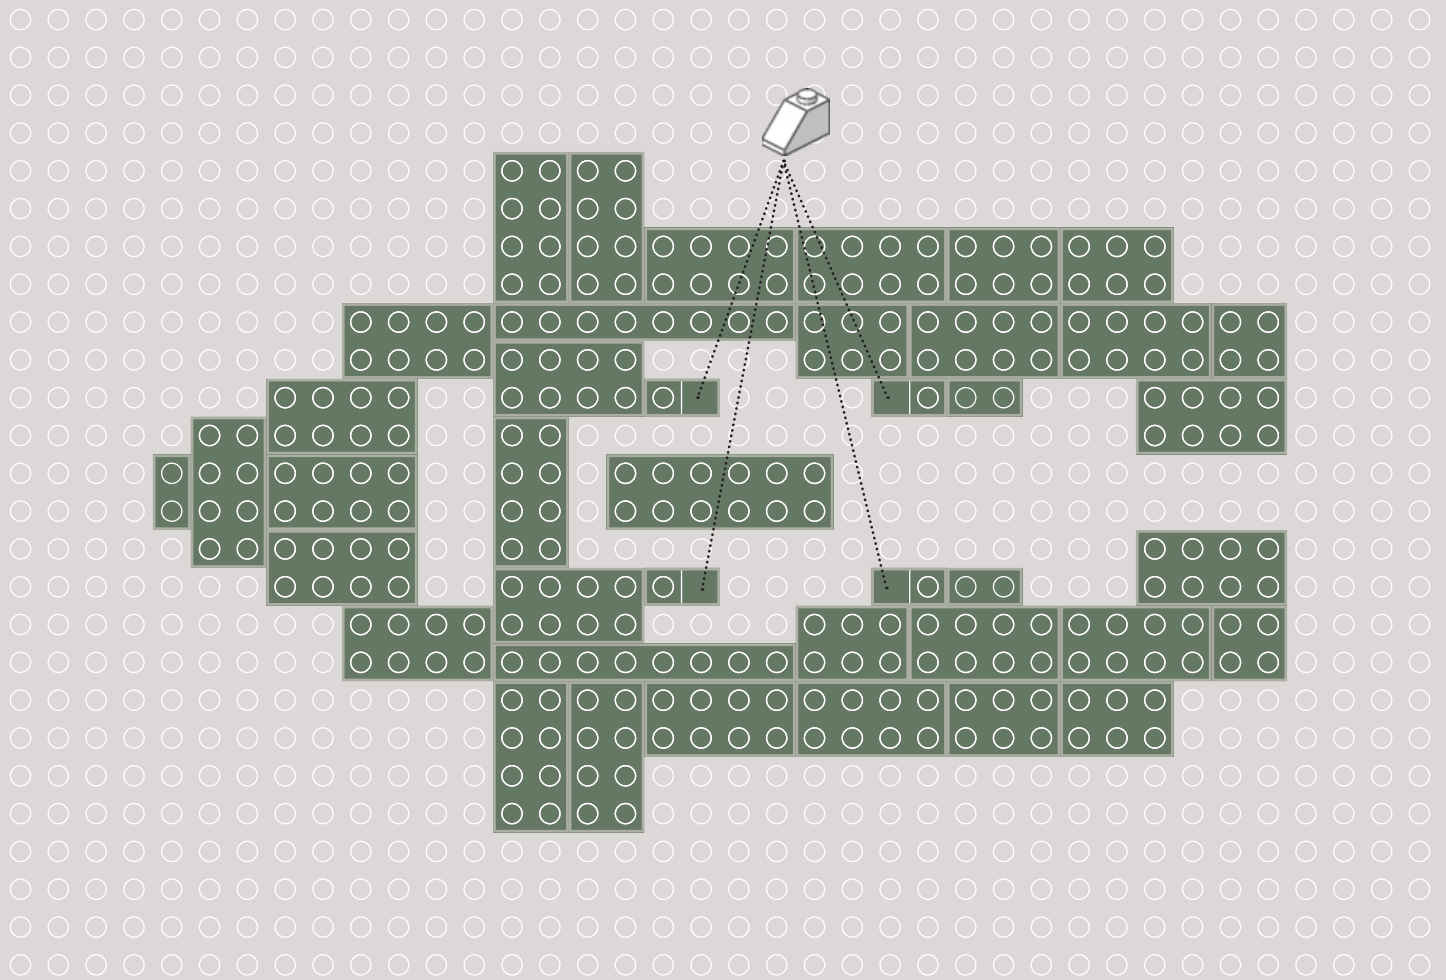

[ABOVE RIGHT] The Commemorative Area at the centre of the building, including the Pool of Reflection and the cloisters where the names of Australians lost in wartime service are listed.

BLOCK FACTS

Constructed largely of concrete with sandstone facings, the building is crowned with a distinctive copper-sheathed dome. The windows of this dome are 15 large stained glass images of military figures depicting 15 distinctly Australian virtues.

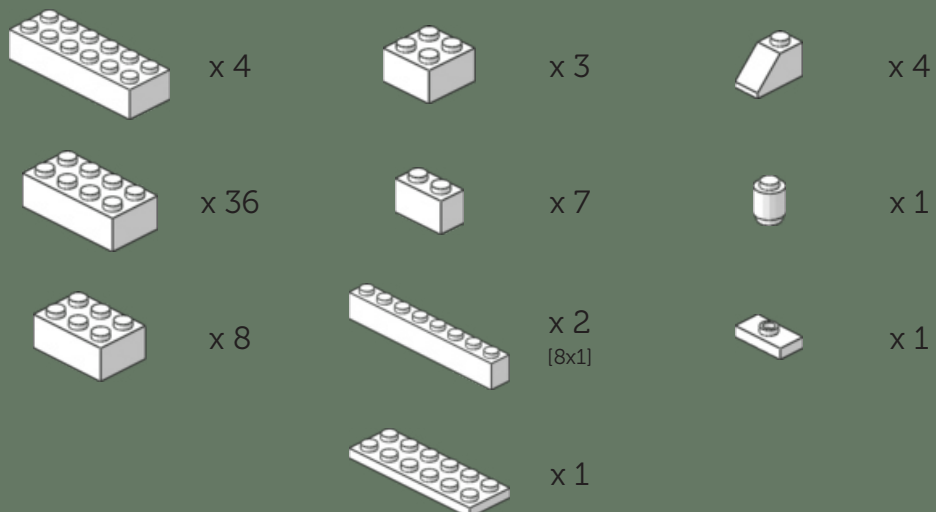

BASE LAYER

Use this guide to accurately lay out your first layer of bricks:

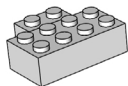

PARTS LIST

You will need:

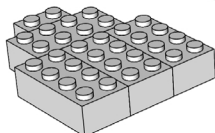

AUSTRALIAN WAR MEMORIAL

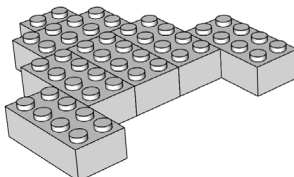

1

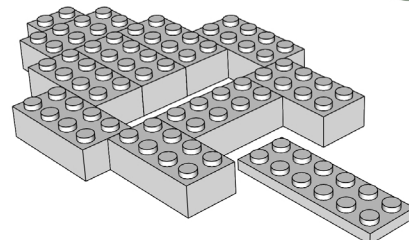

2

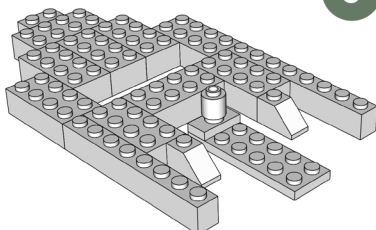

3

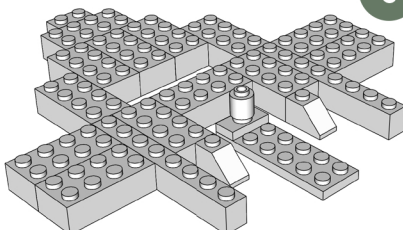

4

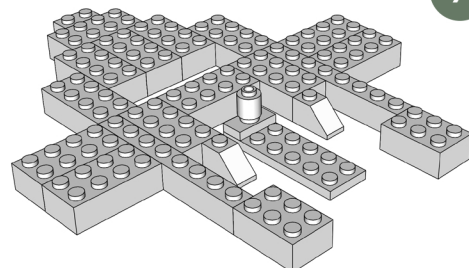

5

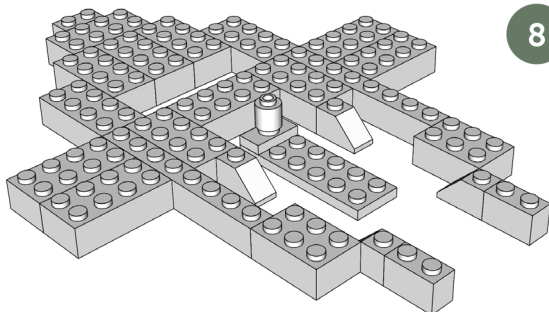

6

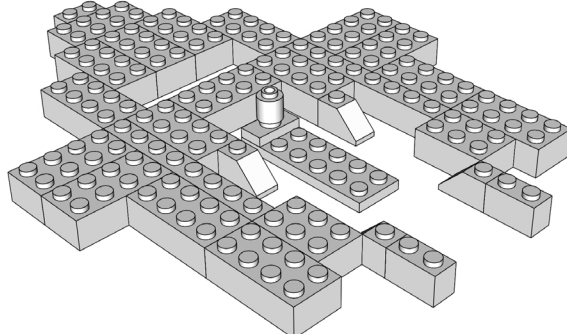

7

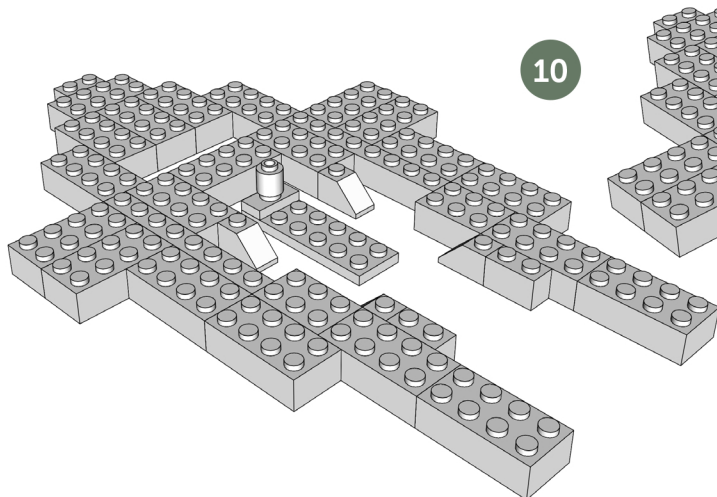

8

9

10

11

