

General Comments:

1. From a zonal emissions assessment there is little difference between the Western and Eastern Alignments.
2. The predominant north-westerly and westerly winds (35 % in January and 45 % in July are from these directions) will affect the air pollution distributions noting that the AIS is downwind of the Western Alignment emission source .