

The siting of each building has been carefully considered to maximise building interface and allow outlook from all dwellings.

